How do we engage children and their families in the child's behaviour or behavioural issues?

In this session we explore, in a 'learning-as-we-go style', how we feel about children's behaviours. We will look at our capacities to engage, what might be missing and importantly, what are our strengths in this area.

Outcomes include:

- An Understanding of theoretically informed practice
- An awareness of contextual realities for children and young people
- Develop an understanding of the context of behaviours
- An understanding of different approaches and tools used in practice
- Networking and peer learning opportunities

WITH PETER MELROSE
